A friend in England has asked your advice about learning Spanish. Write an email giving advice based on your language learning experience. Including ideas for self-study if your friend can't come to your country, ideas for learning the language in your country and your own experiences of learning a language.

Hi Mary!

How are you? I'm glad to hear from you. Lately, I've been studying a lot and I couldn't call you.

Concerning your email, I should know if you can come to Spain. If so, you could do a lot of activities such as theatre, talks, etc, at the language school where I go, I have learnt a lot there. Besides, they organize a trip every weekend and we have the great opportunity to talk to each other. In addition, they could find a job with children for you.

If you can't come to Spain, I suggest that you watch Spanish films and plays, for instance "La Casa de Papel" or "El Ministerio del Tiempo", they are very interesting. In addition, you should read a little every day, that is a good way to improve your vocabulary. Regarding the speaking skill, you'll find a lot of people on the internet who want to practice languages with you, in fact, I have some friends from Scotland and I try to talk to them once a week.

But I think, it'll be better if you came to Spain. I look forward to seeing you, I have a lot of things to tell you.

Love,

Aixa.
